

Basic Detail Report

East Berlin to Moscow Via the "Blue Express": these photos show a few typical scenes seen on and from the famed "Blue Express" Railway between Moscow and East Berlin, linking two of the most important of the capitals of the Communist block and carrying thousands of passengers daily on the busy route between these two centers and various points in between. Pictured: Russian peasants in the Moscow Railroad station.

Date

1960

Primary Maker

Dr. Claude Jacoby

Medium

Vintage ferrotyped gelatin silver print

Dimensions

Image: 6 3/4 x 9 7/8 in. (17.1 x 25.1 cm) Sheet: 6 3/4 x 9 7/8 in. (17.1 x 25.1 cm)